On the site of the present building stood an earlier Tavern which had been destroyed by fire. In 1839, Oric and Austin Edgerton constructed the present building for John Randall for use as his residence. Ten years later it became a Tavern and was so operated for a great many years by George W. Hollis. In time it came into the possession of the ~~Clen Valley~~ Club and was used by them as a club house until in 1928 it was acquired by C. O. Bartlett of the Bartlett and Snow Company. It present it is owned by the ~~Snow~~ family and is used as a ~~Tavern~~ inn. BRECKSVILLE
